Missing Person Investigation Update

The Birmingham Police Department reports search efforts are continuing for missing person Jordian Valentine and the search has expanded.

The preliminary investigation indicates missing person Jordian Valentine was last seen on Saturday, February 27, 2020 in the Wylam Community. Jordian Valentine, along with her boyfriend, went to 510 Frisco Street where they watched people get tattoos. While at the location, Valentine was involved in a verbal disagreement with her boyfriend. The boyfriend reportedly left the location to go to a nearby convenience store and Valentine left the location walking in an unknown direction.

A missing person's report was initially filed with a neighboring jurisdiction on Sunday, February 28th and Valentine was listed as a missing person in the National Crime Information Center. The Birmingham Police Department Special Victims Unit was eventually notified of this missing person's case on Tuesday, March 2, 2021 and became the investigative agency.

Detectives took immediate actions to locate Jordian Valentine. Detectives canvassed the area and multiple searches have been conducted using various resources such as BPD Patrol Division, Special Victims Unit, Homicide Division, and Star 1 Air Support; however, at this time efforts have come to no avail. Several interviews have been conducted with neighbors and parties who were present the night Valentine went missing. The Birmingham Police Department has expanded efforts to a multijurisdictional search. Information gathered during this investigation indicates Jordian Valentine may be in Bessemer, Auburn, Opelika, or Jenkins County Georgia.

If there is anyone who has information pertaining to the whereabouts of Jordian Brenay Valentine, please contact the Birmingham Police Department at 205-297-8413 or 911. If you have additional information on this investigation, contact Crime Stoppers @ 205-254-7777.
